Despite the work carried out in the Republic of Uzbekistan within the framework of national education programmes and a number of positive changes achieved, further improvement of the quality and effectiveness of education, Making use of the conditions and opportunities created are today among the most pressing issues. There is a need to develop and implement mechanisms that form the cognitive motivation of young people, and mechanisms for quality management and improvement of their knowledge and learning process through new forms, non-traditional learning styles. It is they who demand the substantial improvement of the system of lifelong education and the adoption of effective measures that increase the effectiveness of education and training to a new qualitative level. One of the priority tasks of education is to define national and universal values in the minds of young people, to develop practical and life skills to entrench them in society, and to develop young people's socio-legal.

Legal education directs the level of legal awareness of the individual to awareness of the most general legal principles and norms that are in the interests of the individual, society and the State. The formation of legal awareness largely depends on legal education. Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan" on the radical improvement of the system for raising legal awareness and legal culture in society "Special attention shall be paid to raising legal awareness and culture in society, primarily to the systematic and continuous provision of education and training, and to the deep introduction of legal awareness and legal culture in all sectors of the population, beginning with pre-school education; ensuring the protection of personal interests. The main task was defined as the broad promotion of the idea of maintaining a balance between the interests of society. This Decree also stipulates that educational work must be aimed at raising the level of legal awareness of the individual to the awareness of the most general legal principles and norms that are in the interests of the individual, society, the State, That legal education should be continuous and should be provided from an early age, that children should already be aware of the rules of conduct, of moral and certain legal norms, of the acquisition of knowledge, the extension and deepening of this knowledge during further education, It is emphasized that the acquisition of a clear legal character.

We need to continually continue our work to enhance legal awareness and culture in society. It is clear that we start legal education with pre-school education, that the first skills in this business will remain in the hearts of our children, as a mother goddess. For each branch and branch, all levels of education, a scientifically based programme must be prepared to enhance the legal culture. Above all, the Constitution must be given serious consideration. I consider it necessary to create such textbooks for general education schools as the "alphabet of the Constitution", "the lessons of the Constitution", "the foundation of the Constitution". The Ministry of Justice, Pre-school Education, National Education, Higher and Secondary Special Education will be responsible for this work, the President stressed in his reports.

Therefore, special attention is paid to the teaching of legal disciplines in the educational system of our country. It is important that young people study the legal sciences in depth. Of particular importance in the study of jurisprudence by young people are the teaching, teaching and good teaching of these subjects. This science is aimed at this. In our country, special attention is now paid to the education and upbringing of youth. Education has always been the basis of the development of society. Because the person is at the center of all relationships, connections in society. The revolution in science, technology and information has made man and his scientific and educational potential a decisive factor in socio-economic progress. Along with the application of the advanced results of scientific and technological progress, intensification of production, the use of high-performance technologies, one of the most important areas in this field is the training of highly qualified specialists. The problems of ensuring sustainable economic growth, a dignified place in the international division of labour, ensuring the competitiveness of the national economy largely depend on the knowledge, skills of the labour force, the ability to act according to the situation. To achieve the great goals that we must achieve in the future, we must first of all train highly qualified, modern specialists. In accordance with the new «Law on Education» adopted in the country, the entire system of education is being reformed, the main attention is paid to the training of personnel of this level. We must not forget the importance of the educational system in the education and upbringing of young people, the unique wealth of the intellectual and cultural potential of our President, and the crucial importance of nurturing and developing rare talents. It is also a fact that the developed countries have achieved today's high level of development in their minds. The development of qualified professionals, and the development of human potential in all respects depends on the Guides, how well they organize and teach the learning process. Therefore, special attention is paid to the organization of the growth process, the application of teaching methods that promote in-depth education of youth. The organization of the educational process in the modern period requires from the teacher not only deep knowledge, but also possession of pedagogical skills, knowledge of various methods of teaching, tireless work on himself. So that our children can think legally from a young age, in our country began to study the basics of legal knowledge. And students of the higher education institution, especially the legal profile, need to learn not only legal thinking, but also to be able to identify, analyze a wide range of legal problems, to feel what these changes might affect in the future. And this requires a deep knowledge of the legal sciences. Theoretically, if the correct method is not chosen during the lesson despite the high level of knowledge of the teacher, he does not give the expected result. Effective organization of the educational process is possible only when the
